Announcement of RUS 2022/2023

The scholarship is granted partly in cash and partly in services. The services consist of free use of canteen service, in relation to status, and, for 'off-campus' students only, free allocation of accommodation at the residential facility located within the university campus.

The cash portion of the scholarship is determined in relation to the student's status (off-campus, on-campus or commuter) and ISEE income.

The scholarship, as well as any related benefits (graduation award and international mobility grant) and the housing place are granted only to those students included in the rankings referred to in this Notice. The amount of benefits granted and services provided depends on the student's classification (on-campus/off-campus) and income bracket.

On the other hand, the canteen service is provided to the generality of students and, according to the income bracket they belong to, students are required to share the cost of the meal.

Art. 4

1) For students registered in bachelor's degree courses, single-cycle bachelor's or master's degree courses and old-school degree courses as well as students registered in an AFAM course, the computation is from the academic year of first ever enrollment;

2) For students registered for master's or master's degree courses, the computation shall take place starting from the first academic year of registration following the achievement of the bachelor's degree.
UMG Foundation reserves the right to carry out, also due to the changes introduced by the Decree of the Minister of University and Research No. 1320/2021, controls in order to the admission of the student to the attendance of the academic year for which the benefit has been requested on the basis of the educational rules of reference.

Special cases:

a) in the case of courses transitions, the general rule that the conventional a.y. of registration coincides with the a.y. of first ever matriculation will apply. The years prior to the transition are not counted provided that CFUs already earned and/or exams previously passed have not been recognized.

b) In the case of matriculation as a result of a decline in studies, the years prior to the decline are not counted provided that CFUs and/or exams from the previous university career have not been recognized. c) in the case of matriculation to a single-cycle master's degree subsequent to the bachelor's degree or corresponding degree, the conventional a.y. of registration coincides with that of first absolute matriculation, without prejudice to the application of what is indicated in points a) and b);

UMG Foundation also reserves the right, for said students - with the exception of those referred to in letter d above - to check the achievement of the credits provided for in Article 7 of this notice, not taking into account credits related to exams and/or training activities that may have been recognized from the previous career.

The provision remains, however, that each student may not receive a scholarship more than once for the same year of registration - even if to be related to different degree courses but of the same level - and that the number of years in which each student may receive a scholarship may not in any case exceed the legal duration of the degree course beyond the additional semester.

By way of example and not limitation, a student who enrolls for the first time in a bachelor's degree course may obtain the benefit of the scholarship with respect to:
- to the first year;
- to the second year;
- to the third year;
- to the fourth year (last semester).

Even if said student makes course passage/abbreviation in no case may he/she obtain the benefit for more academic years than those indicated above.
Students who meet the following credit requirements stipulated in Art. 5 Minister of University and Research Decree No. 1320/2021 may apply for the grant:
